ASIAN PACIFIC DIGESTIVE WEEK

22-25 November 2014 • Bali

INVITATION

We are glad to inform you that Indonesian Society of Gastroenterology together with the Indonesian Society for Digestive Endoscopy, Indonesian Society of Digestive Surgeons and Indonesian Association for the Study of the Liver is hosting APDW2014 in Bali from 22-25 November 2014. The theme of the congress is Harmony of Advanced Medical Sciences, Technology and Best Practices in Gastroenterology and Hepatology. The congress warmly invites you to participate in this premier event on gastroenterology, liver disease, endoscopy, GI surgery and related GI diseases. Bali is already well-known as international convention centre of many professional organizations as values in political global of head of states international meeting.

The Asian Pacific Digestive Week has grown and evolved from one edition to the next, and this next Congress in Bali will build on the hugely successful offerings of these meetings that have preceded it. APDW 2014 will offer the opportunity to learn about the latest research and advancements, collaborate with colleagues and actively participate in the advancing field of gastroenterology. In parallel with our professional endeavors, you will also enjoy the history, sights, sounds and tastes of Indonesia, and in particular, the unique, diverse and always exciting, Bali.

A dynamic, stimulating and varied scientific program of the highest quality will be presented. On 22 November, the Congress will begin with an outstanding Postgraduate Course focused on issues in Gastroenterology and Liver Disease and a Live Demonstration Endoscopy Course, this year we will also be bringing back the Hands-On Workshop in Therapeutic Endoscopy with Animal Models.

The core program over the next three days, 23-25 November, will be convened and presented during symposia organized in four primary tracks: Endoscopy Track, Gastrointestinal Track, Hepatology & Pancreatobiliary Track and Nursing Track. Each day of the core program will begin with Plenary Sessions during which Named Lectureships will be presented. Other key programmatic components will be offered including Consensus, free paper presentations and industry-sponsored symposia.

We look forward to meeting with you, our esteemed colleagues, as we benefit together from the impressive science that will be shared by our international and regional colleagues.

We are delighted to welcome you to Indonesia for APDW 2014 Bali and hope that you will elect to be part of the outstanding scientific program in this exceptional city.

SCIENTIFIC SESSIONS

A dynamic, stimulating and varied scientific program of the highest quality will be presented.

On 22 November, the Congress will begin with outstanding Postgraduate Course focussing on Upper GI, Lower GI, Hepatology and Pancreatobiliary Disease; a Live Demonstration Endoscopy Course; and a Surgical Workshop on Liver Transplantation.

The core program over the next three days, 23-25 November, will be convened and presented during symposia organized in four primary tracks: Endoscopy, Upper GI, Lower GI and Hepatology.

A Nursing Track will also be included on 24-25 November.

One additional highlight is the Hands on Endoscopy Workshop in Animal Models which will be held on 25 November at the Bali International Training and Development Center (offsite). With practical implementation in experimental animals (pigs), the main aim of this program is to provide a unique opportunity to learn diagnostic and therapeutic advanced endoscopy procedures. During the course, participants will have the opportunity to be allowed to perform both diagnostic and therapeutic procedures such as ERCP, EMR/ESD and EUS in animal models, under direct supervision from well-known experts and trainers from all around the world. This Hands on Workshop will be proceeded by such related lectures.

All The Hands on Endoscopy Workshop in Animal Models Program activities will take place in Bali International Training and Development Center (BITDec), located in beautiful Tabanan- Bali.

We are delighted to welcome all of you to participate in this exciting and important educational program in the field of gastrointestinal endoscopy. Don't miss it!
